

Postcards from Our Partners

Community Conservation Partnerships

Photo by Arkansas River Trail: Dr. Eleanor Kennedy and colleague on the trail.

Our participation in this project is a way of saying "Thank you" and represents an effort to give back to the community by offering our citizens a safe and accessible place to exercise and by encouraging a more healthy lifestyle.

Arkansas River Trail, Little Rock, AR -

A national model for unifying health, environmental, and economic goals into a common vision, this project has garnered $1 million from the health community for the trail.

We want to hear from you.

The Rivers, Trails, and Conservation Assistance program is a community conservation resource of the National Park Service. We collaborate with partners and National Park areas in communities across America.

Each year, our staff help 300 communities:

- Create over 1,200 miles of new hiking, walking, and biking trails,
- Protect nearly 300 miles of rivers and watersheds, and
- Preserve over 61,000 acres of new natural areas.

We help our partners:

create local, regional, and state networks of rivers, trails, parks greenways, and natural areas.

Drop us a line.

The Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance Program implements the natural resource conservation and outdoor recreation mission of the National Park Service in communities across America.
